Albury and Sandy Creek, the New South Wales south side of Wagga Wagga, were washed away during floodwaters. In consequence the heavy and continuous rain.

A COCKSHAKERS festival took place in the Exhibition Building yesterday evening in connection with the July 2000 celebration of the 100th anniversary of the constitution of the New South Wales Parliament. The proceedings were marked with a good deal of enthusiasm.

TWO Australian seafarers, C. Dutch and C. Stephenson, left by the steamer Alameda for South America, and were able to make a number of suitable matches there.

TWO wrecks of the ketch Moses Fletcher on the bar at Moruya, and of the Avon at the Bellinger River, were announced by the M.C.O. board. No default was found against the masters of the vessels in either case.

By the steamer Alameda, which sailed yesterday for San Francisco, via Auckland and Honolulu, goods were consigned by the M.C.O. to the Union Bank of Australia shipped £100,000, the Bank of Australasia £50,000, and the Bank of New Zealand £50,000.

HAVING traffic yesterday beyond Wagga was suspended on account of the floods.

The Stockton Colliery at Newcastle stopped work yesterday on account of a heavy rain coming down from the roof. It is thought probable that work will not be resumed for a week.

THE ORIZABA, on Saturday, took specie from Melbourne to the value of £100,000 for London.

THE steamer Bancroft is ashore at Beam Creek (S.A.), and is expected to be ready in a few days.

THE Marine Board yesterday found that the ketch Prince Alfred had been lost since by Captain Craig off Jersey Bay on the 1st June last, during a heavy gale. She had not been seen since, and there was nothing but the heavy weather prevailing at the time.

THE steamer Aradika, which left yesterday for London via ports, took specie valued at £40,275. The Bank of New South Wales shipped £30,000, and a small lot of £275 was for Bombay.

A COACHDRIVER at Crookwell committed suicide yesterday morning.

MR. J. C. NIXON, in his opening address at the chairman of the Orange celebration last night, said, "We meet not to revile our enemies, but to 'thank God and take courage'—to gratefully remember the sacrifices and heroism of those who won upon the field of battle, with blood and piled with dead, the civil and religious freedom which they have handed down to us as the most exalted legacy ever bequeathed by man to man."

THE FLEMING racecourse (Vic.) yesterday was a perfect sea. Only the tops of the steepleshapes of the churches were visible above the water, and morning thousands of sea birds were depositing themselves on the course.

In this issue is given an interesting account of the envoys of King Gungunyan, who, according to cables we published yesterday, have been sent to appeal for aid from the Queen. The ardele is entitled "At the Kraal of the Great White Queen."

A CAUCASIAN meeting of the labour party was held yesterday, lasting from early in the morning until late in the afternoon. The speaker, Mr. J. H. Jones, was present. The position the party will take up in the new Parliament was warmly dis-

The dispute between the shearers and the pastoralists is beginning to make itself felt in the Albury district, and the opposing forces are actively engaged in a struggle for supremacy in the coming season. Nearly all the squatters in the Riverina have joined the Pastoralists' Union.

The unemployed boys in Melbourne have been settled for the time being by the Premier and the Commonwealth Government. They are being sent in various directions having been found for those willing to work.

TURKEY refuses to admit Russian Jews, excepting those who are pilgrims, into Palestine.

Customs revenue yesterday amounted to £790,000.

With enthusiasm and satisfaction the government has received the news of the success of the League of Nations in the settlement of the Greek question. The League has shown that it is capable of doing what the League of Nations has done in the past. The League has shown that it is capable of doing what the League of Nations has done in the past. The League has shown that it is capable of doing what the League of Nations has done in the past.

To-day the members of the new Parliament will meet for the transaction of the necessary preliminary business, including, among other things, the signing of the roll, and the election of Speaker; and to-morrow the formal opening by his Excellency the Governor will take place, when the reasons for calling Parliament together will be set forth in the usual way. What those reasons will be, and what their order of precedence, are at present matters of speculation, and in the peculiar circumstances of the situation the present moment would be inopportune for serious discussion as the Government has not yet decided what can be looked for with more or less of assurance. Seldom, if ever before in our history, has the meeting of a new Parliament been surrounded by so thick a haze of uncertainty as that which now hides the future course of events. It is difficult to discern the sagacious and discerning men; and it is, therefore, with a feelings of gratification that, amidst all the elements of doubt upon some points, we can quote the Premier's expression of belief that "the present to the noblest aspirations of this people," his declaration that he has "no misgivings whatever," and the corresponding testimony by the Leader of the Opposition that he has "the fullest confidence in the outcome of the people's will." These deliverances may not help us greatly in the attempt to form a forecast, but they should not be without their due influence as tending to dissipate unnecessary fears. It can hardly be too often repeated that neither side when the last Parliament was about to restriction which is venient. In the past there have been very few cases where rights of one African country are taken away from another by the United Nations. It is by the use of duties together and to that is insisted and their relationship and the use of violence and anarchy. It is chiefly in the factors of the sociothan in a small one to fire the spirit and set loose the tongue of the orator: also, that the latter is more favourable for the exercise of the mischievous influence of eloquence and cabals. If that be true, the opportunities and advantages before the new Parliament will exceed any that its predecessors have enjoyed. For the process we must trust to the future, and the possibility of the near future, as presentment forewarns us, this process of expansion may be brought to what the Treasurer, at least, will regard as a welcome close.

Another question was asked: "What was the result of the Assembly is the first elected with a legal right to payment from the public funds. The last was paid during a part of its career, but its members when they came forward as candidates did so as men with expectations perhaps, but not in the support of men with rights. The case is altered now, and we have to watch the development of the results of the change. When the Allowance Bill was before Parliament, one of the chief arguments in support of it was that it would tend to

"It is no way associated with the Triple Alliance," and now the frank avowal of the Emperor of Germany that his strongest desire is for the preservation of the peace of Europe appears to have braved away this sinister suspicion that may have attached to his visit to England.

Last night the members of the Ministry gave a Ministerial dinner in the Parliamentary dining-room, to celebrate the opening of Parliament, which, in a formal way, took place today. Sir Henry Parkes, as Premier, occupied the chair, and the other members of the Ministry were present in the following order:—Mr. J. H. Stott, Vice-president of the Legislative Council; Mr. G. B. Simpson, the Attorney-General; Mr. M. Millan (Colonial Treasurer); Mr. Brunker, Minister for Lands; Mr. J. A. G. Griffith, Minister for Public Works; Mr. Sydney Smith, Minister for Mines and Agriculture; Mr. A. J. G. Griffith, Minister for Justice; Mr. J. H. Coady, Minister for Public Instruction; and Mr. M. D. O'Connor, Postmaster-General. The gentlemen who accepted invitations were as follows:—

hall and tables were handsomely decorated with plants and flowers. Mr. Cassidy provided an excellent dinner. Only one toast, that of "The Queen," was made, and the story of "The Queen" was read. The evening was very enjoyable and it was replete with musical humor. During the evening the Permanent Artillery Band, under the leadership of Bandmaster M. Devry, and stationed in the principal vanguard, played an appropriate march, "The Queen's Guard," the number being a fantastic, partly vocal, entitled, "From Dawn to Twilight." This was descriptive of a day's holiday in the country, and its winning selected well-deserved recognition.

To-day at noon the first session of the fifteenth Parliament of New Zealand will be opened by commission. Although of a purely formal nature, it is expected that the ceremony will create unusual interest. Anticipating this Mr. Howie, the Minister of the Black Rod, has been careful in the selection of the members of the commission. He has secured tickets both for to-day's and to-morrow's proceedings in the Legislative Council Chamber. Members of both Houses will assemble in their respective chambers at noon. In the Council Chamber, Mr. H. H. Hall, the Speaker, will that he, Mr. W. H. Sutor, the Vice-President, and Mr. A. H. Jacob, the Chairman of Committees, have appointed a commission to open Parliament. Messrs. Sutor and Jacob will then take their places to the right and left of the President. In the meantime a similar ceremony will be taking place in the Legislative Assembly, where Sir Henry Parkes, Mr. McMillan, the Minister of Finance, Mr. Brunker, the Minister for Lands, will officiate as the commission appointed to open the proceedings of that Chamber. Mr. F. W. Webb, the clerk to the Assembly, will read the commission, the proceeds of which will be distributed, and probably a list certified by his Excellency the Governor of the names of members returned to serve in this Parliament, together with the writs directing their return. It is probable the following will be the members of the Executive: Bradward, Queensberry, and Eden will be declared to be valid in the terms of clause 44 of the Electoral Act, notwithstanding the fact that there has been delay in returning the writs. By the action of the Upper House, the writs will flow from the other Chamber to summon members of the Assembly to attend. When all are assembled, the President will announce the nature of his commission, and then read the proclamation until the close of the opening of the session. The Assembly will be requested to retire to their chamber for the purpose of electing a Speaker. This will conclude the ceremony in the Upper House. Members of the Assembly will return to their chamber for the purpose of organizing, and sign the roll. The election of Speaker will follow this ceremony, and it is understood that Mr. J. P. Abbott, proposed by Mr. Copeland and Mr. C. A. Smith, will be the proposed choice of the House. When the election is over and its attendant render of thanks have taken place Sir Henry Parkes, as Premier, will announce the hour at which his Excellency the Governor General will be pleased to open the Assembly for the presentation of Mr. Spoker. Probably this time will be at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning. An hour later his Excellency the Governor in person will officially open the first session of the new Parliament with the customary ceremony.

A MEETING of the Executive Council was held yesterday under the presidency of his Excellency the Governor. No business of public importance was transacted, and the meeting of the Executive Council will be held at 10 o'clock this morning, when probably the speech to be delivered by his Excellency at the official opening of Parliament to-morrow will be sanctioned.

MR. FRANK FARRELL was waited upon yesterday by a deputation from the Fishermen's Association, which asked that some steps might be taken in regard to the un satisfactory manner in which fishing operations are being carried on in the Patuxent River. The deputation also urged the desirability of the Government's taking action in certain respects. Mr. Farrell stated in reply that he was preparing a bill which would have the effect of enacting the discontinuance of snags nets in the different rivers, but that the bill would not be introduced until a few days before it was passed into law. As to the question of amending the Fisheries Act, he had been in communication with Sir Henry Parkes, and had been dealing with that subject with regard to the fishing season of Parliament, which he hoped a measure would be passed satisfactory also to the fishermen.

The Protection and Political Reform League of the Transvaal held its regular meeting at the Temperance Hall last evening. The president, Mr. E. C. L. Loubser, presided over the meeting. The following resolutions were carried:—1. Moved by Mr. William Richardson, and seconded by Mr. T. M. Helmore.—That the protection Opposition majority now shown to Parliament in regard to the land question is an unmitigated disaster to the country to bring in protection, this league is of opinion that immediate action should be taken to inaugurate this policy. Further, this action should be accompanied by a vigorous campaign of propaganda for ploughing and sowing our lands if we are to provide the New South Wales market with farm produce to supply our home consumption; and under existing freetrade conditions this colony has more millions of acres of land available for ploughing and sowing than any other colony in the world. It is required to furnish the wants of our own people.

2. Moved by Mr. J. Mason, and seconded by Mr. Francis McMahon.—That this league commiserates the labour forces of the colony and the small holders of the rural districts, and it is required to make the land alienation campaign, will knowing that after due consideration and de-

Last night the members of the Ministry gave a Ministerial dinner in the Parliamentary dining-room, to celebrate the anniversary of the birth of the late Premier, Sir Henry Parkes, as Premier, occupied the chair, and all the other members of the Ministry were present. They being: Mr. W. H. Hall, C. J. (Vice-president of the Legislative Council), Mr. G. B. Simpson, the Attorney-General, Mr. M. Gould, Minister for Justice, Mr. J. H. Carruthers, Minister for Public Instruction, and Mr. D. O'Connor, Postmaster-General. The gentlemen who accepted invitations were as follows:—Members of the Legislative Council, Mr. J. G. Hay, President; Sir William Manning, Mr. J.
